

January 2020 #1

View this email in your browser

Your monthly dose of ISE news

Dear

ISE

Friends,

As we would like to share with you all news and updates of ISE timely and promptly when they happen, from the beginning of this year we will switch to a new format of our Newsletter. Every month we will send you focused information on certain topics and activities to keep you instantly aware of all updates! And every three months we will do a wrap up with the most interesting and exciting projects from the period in a Quarterly Newsletter!

Stay tuned as in 2020 we will continue providing new and valuable content on education, events and much more!

ISE NEWS

Win a Travel Grant to the International Congress of Endocrinology (ICE 2020)

Did you know that the International Society of Endocrinology provides travel grants for young researchers and clinicians that may not have the opportunity to travel to our congress that will take place from 4-7 October this year in Buenos Aires, Argentina?

Find out more >

A year in review with Andre Lacroix, ISE Chairperson

At the beginning of the new 2020, we wanted to share with you what we have achieved together in the past one year and what goals we have set for the new 2020.

Check out ISE Chairperson's, Andre Lacroix, message and learn more about our objectives for the new year!

Find out more >

EDUCATION UPDATES

Now available - Recording of Webinar on Adult Growth Hormone Deficiency

You can now access the recording of the interactive debate organized by ISE in partnership with the World Alliance of Pituitary Organizations (WAPO) that took place on December 13, 2019.

Check out the post-webinar interactive case study!

After watching the webinar, we encourage you to complete your learning experience by completing a fully interactive case study developed by the same experts on "Challenges in the Management of Transition Phase Patients".

Find out more >

SPOTLIGHT ON ISE MEMBER SOCIETY

Focus on the Endocrine Society of India

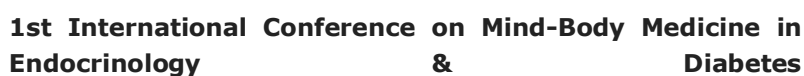

The Endocrine Society of India is the largest professional body of endocrinologists in India providing a common platform and network for clinicians, and researchers with a special interest in endocrinology.

We had a chat with the President of the Endocrine Society, Dr. Sanjay Kalra, who shared with us more about the society and all its exciting projects and plans.

Find out more >

Upcoming events in 2020:

1-2

February 2020

Pune, India

The Mind-Body Medicine Workshop conceptualized by SPHERE & CBM Trust is designed to impart practical skills of mind-body health for enhancing resilience and promote one's own health for improving outcome and quality of life in lifestyle disorders like diabetes.

15

-16

February

2020

Haryana/NCR, India

On 15th and 16th of February 2020 the Endocrine Society of India (ESI) is organizing its Annual Postgraduate Initiative in Research & Education for 2nd year DM/DNB students of Endocrinology.

ESI will invite students and faculty from across the world to join the event and participate in many interesting discussions during the two days.

Copyright © 2020 International Society of Endocrinology, All rights reserved.