Our May members' update, the newsletter specifically created for you, our active member societies and General Council, to stay up-to-date on what's going on at ISE.

Please share news or updates on your society with office@isendo.org and we will happily share the information in our news update.

New collaborations with global health actors

ISE joins the NCD Alliance

We are pleased to announce our full membership of the NCD Alliance (NCDA), in order to accelerate political commitment and action on noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) worldwide, including all endocrine related disorders. The NCD Alliance is active in more than 170 countries, and dedicated to improving NCD prevention and control worldwide.

Forging partnerships at the World Health Assembly in Geneva

Together with a number of other international scientific societies active in global health, we joined a partnership to issue a formal statement at the World Health Assembly last week, on the commitments made in the Political

Education

Help us find your ISE Education Editors

We need your society to help us develop the pillars of the International Society of Endocrinology's educational strategy and enhance educational opportunities for endocrinologists around the world. We're looking for 2 proactive and well-connected Education Editors in the field who are willing to take part of this initiative on a voluntary basis for an initial 1-year term.

We kindly ask you to circulate the call for applications through your society's communication channels. The application deadline is 30 June 2019.

Other ISE Updates

ISE update from ECE 2019

ISE congratulates the European Society on Endocrinology with its record breaking 21st edition of the European Congress of Endocrinology!

ISE was also present at ECE 2019; many participants found their way to our booth to find out about more about ICE 2020 and our Global Education Hub.

We look forward to ECE 2020 which will be taking place from 23-26 May 2020 in Prague, Czech Republic.
